By Claudia Farkas Al Rashoud

‘Early detection saves lives’

By Claudia Farkas Al Rashoud

“Early Detection Saves Lives” is the theme of the second annual Breast Cancer Awareness Day presented by Al Sidra Association for Psychological Care of Cancer Patients under the patronage of Sheikha Azza Jaber Al-Sabah. Free and open to the public, the event will be on Wednesday, Oct 28, in the Al Hashemi Grand Ballroom of the Shangri-La Hotel in Kuwait City. The event is sponsored by the Ministry of Health, Kuwait Cancer Council (KCCC), and the European Oncology Nursing Society. The event will include special presentations and a panel discussion.

The event promises to provide audiences with an opportunity to learn about the latest developments in breast cancer research and care. The keynote speaker for the event will be Dr. Rania Amsa, a leading cancer specialist and researcher whose work focuses on breast cancer prevention and treatment.

Dr. Rania has dedicated her career to advancing our understanding of breast cancer and improving outcomes for patients. She is a recognized expert in the field of breast cancer prevention and early detection, and her work has helped to shape national and international guidelines for the prevention and management of breast cancer.

Her research focuses on the development and evaluation of new and innovative strategies for breast cancer prevention and early detection. She has published extensively in reputable medical journals and her work has been cited widely in the field.

In addition to her research, Dr. Rania is a passionate advocate for breast cancer education and prevention. She has delivered numerous presentations and workshops on breast cancer prevention and early detection to diverse audiences, including healthcare professionals, patients, and the general public.

Dr. Rania’s presentation will be followed by a panel discussion featuring experts from various disciplines, including oncology, psychology, and healthcare administration. The panelists will share their insights and perspectives on the latest developments in breast cancer care and prevention.

The event is open to the public and will provide an opportunity for attendees to learn about breast cancer prevention, early detection, and treatment options. It is sponsored by the Ministry of Health, Kuwait Cancer Council (KCCC), and the European Oncology Nursing Society.

To reserve your seat for the event, please register by email by Oct 26: event.rackers@kccc.org.kw or 24620859 or go to www.al-sidra.net. Please register by email by Oct 26.

Al Sidra Centre staff and patients get together in a relaxed, friendly setting.

Dr. Rania Amsa has dedicated her career to advancing our understanding of breast cancer and improving outcomes for patients. She is a recognized expert in the field of breast cancer prevention and early detection, and her work has helped to shape national and international guidelines for the prevention and management of breast cancer.

Her research focuses on the development and evaluation of new and innovative strategies for breast cancer prevention and early detection. She has published extensively in reputable medical journals and her work has been cited widely in the field.

In addition to her research, Dr. Rania is a passionate advocate for breast cancer education and prevention. She has delivered numerous presentations and workshops on breast cancer prevention and early detection to diverse audiences, including healthcare professionals, patients, and the general public.

Dr. Rania’s presentation will be followed by a panel discussion featuring experts from various disciplines, including oncology, psychology, and healthcare administration. The panelists will share their insights and perspectives on the latest developments in breast cancer care and prevention.

The event is open to the public and will provide an opportunity for attendees to learn about breast cancer prevention, early detection, and treatment options. It is sponsored by the Ministry of Health, Kuwait Cancer Council (KCCC), and the European Oncology Nursing Society.

To reserve your seat for the event, please register by email by Oct 26: event.rackers@kccc.org.kw or 24620859 or go to www.al-sidra.net. Please register by email by Oct 26.