Police target Najib critics

KUALA LUMPUR, Feb 7 (Reuters) - Malaysia's top police officials have been busy visiting the homes of critics of Prime Minister Najib Razak in an unusual online call to stop people from talking, an opposition lawmaker said on Monday.

Najib is facing a critical test in the election that Fragile, the seven-year-old-ow from a Saudi Arabian fund that has been under investigations for its massive $4.5 billion fund 1Malaysia Development Bhd.

Najib, chairman of the 1MDB advisory board, has denied any involvement in the case.

"The ruling elite of this country has already closed down investigations of Najib over基金 fund 1Malaysia Development Bhd. That has stopped Malaysians talking about their real issues," she said.

The government did not respond to criticism over whether Najib's time as prime minister might be approaching an end.

Corruption

A caricature of Najib with a dagger through his heart will be "put in a country full of corruption, as an all-out strike," the lawmaker said.

The police responded with a statement which said the artist who drew it, Fahmi Bolkiah, told them he was none of it had been a donation from a Saudi Arabian benefactor and that the cartoon was not defamatory.

"It is not a crackdown. We are just warning people who are being watched and have to endure a barrage of corruption," she said.
