Manchester learns lessons after attack

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Agencies) Manchester, a city in the northeast of England, will learn lessons from the attack in May when it suffered a devastating suicide bombing at a packed concert in the UK’s biggest arena, said the city’s mayor.

Mayor of Manchester, Andy Burnham, said the Manchester attack was a “wake-up call” for the country and that the city would never forget the victims.

He said: “The Manchester attack was a wake-up call for the whole of our country, and it will inspire us to never forget the victims of this attack.

“Those who took the lives of 22 innocent people on that night will never be forgotten by the people of Manchester or the people of the UK.”

The Manchester attack was one of a series of terrorist attacks in the UK in recent months.
