AUK holds 10th Annual Capstone Exhibition

The AUK Graphic Design Department showcased the talents and hard work of its students through its 10th Annual Graphic Design Capstone Exhibition, which took place from May 21

The exhibition offered students an opportunity to display their creative work, which covered a range of topics that included social, political, economic, and environmental issues. The students' work was a testament to their creativity and imagination, and it was on display in the lobby of the AUK campus, where visitors were invited to view the exhibits.

Showcase

The students showcased a variety of projects that were a result of their studies and research. Their projects ranged from graphic design to illustration, painting, and sculpture. The students used a variety of techniques and materials, including digital tools and traditional mediums, to create their works of art. Their creativity and dedication were evident in every piece.

Senior students Jesus Riaz and Alaa Al-Masahli, who co-ordinated the "Voice of Women" campaign and displayed their work in the exhibition, explained that their project was an effort to advocate for gender equality in Kuwait. They said, "We created this project to raise awareness about gender equality and to promote women's rights in Kuwait. We hope that our work will inspire others to take action and to support the cause." The project featured a series of posters and a video that highlighted the struggles of women in Kuwait.

A day after the event, there was a large turnout of visitors, with 250 people attending the opening ceremony and 1,100 people visiting the exhibition over the course of the week. The exhibition was open from May 21 to 25, and it was free to attend. Visitors were encouraged to interact with the students and to learn more about their work.

Alcoholics Anonymous: If you know someone who can't stop drinking and would like to talk to people who have been there, please contact us: rohsecretary@gmail.com or rohirr@rohir.org.

Alcoholics Anonymous: We are here to help with addiction problems. Totally confidential.

Cancer online support group: You can find more information on the website: http://canceronline.com/.

Cancer online support group: A support group for people with cancer, their families, and caregivers. We offer online support and resources to help you navigate the complex world of cancer care.

Chaos coaching, round robins: Registration is open for the next round of the Chaos coaching program. This program is designed to help you navigate the challenges of chaos and find your way forward.

Invitation to Grand Mosque: The Visitors of the Grand Mosque, which is one of Kuwait's most historic and beautiful mosques, are invited to come and explore its rich history, architecture, and culture. The mosque is open to visitors every day, and it offers a unique opportunity to experience Kuwait's rich cultural heritage.

KUWAIT CITY, June 20: The Art of Graphic Design Department at the American University of Kuwait (AUK) yesterday kicked off its 10th Annual Graphic Design Capstone Exhibition which took place from May 21nd until June 2nd.

The exhibition offered students an opportunity to display their creative work, which covered a range of topics that included social, political, economic, and environmental issues. The students' work was a testament to their creativity and imagination, and it was on display in the lobby of the AUK campus, where visitors were invited to view the exhibits.

Showcase

The students showcased a variety of projects that were a result of their studies and research. Their projects ranged from graphic design to illustration, painting, and sculpture. The students used a variety of techniques and materials, including digital tools and traditional mediums, to create their works of art. Their creativity and dedication were evident in every piece.

Senior students Jesus Riaz and Alaa Al-Masahli, who co-ordinated the "Voice of Women" campaign and displayed their work in the exhibition, explained that their project was an effort to advocate for gender equality in Kuwait. They said, "We created this project to raise awareness about gender equality and to promote women's rights in Kuwait. We hope that our work will inspire others to take action and to support the cause." The project featured a series of posters and a video that highlighted the struggles of women in Kuwait.

A day after the event, there was a large turnout of visitors, with 250 people attending the opening ceremony and 1,100 people visiting the exhibition over the course of the week. The exhibition was open from May 21 to 25, and it was free to attend. Visitors were encouraged to interact with the students and to learn more about their work.

Alcoholics Anonymous: If you know someone who can't stop drinking and would like to talk to people who have been there, please contact us: rohsecretary@gmail.com or rohirr@rohir.org.

Alcoholics Anonymous: We are here to help with addiction problems. Totally confidential.

Cancer online support group: You can find more information on the website: http://canceronline.com/.

Cancer online support group: A support group for people with cancer, their families, and caregivers. We offer online support and resources to help you navigate the complex world of cancer care.

Chaos coaching, round robins: Registration is open for the next round of the Chaos coaching program. This program is designed to help you navigate the challenges of chaos and find your way forward.

Invitation to Grand Mosque: The Visitors of the Grand Mosque, which is one of Kuwait's most historic and beautiful mosques, are invited to come and explore its rich history, architecture, and culture. The mosque is open to visitors every day, and it offers a unique opportunity to experience Kuwait's rich cultural heritage.

KUWAIT CITY, June 20: The Art of Graphic Design Department at the American University of Kuwait (AUK) yesterday kicked off its 10th Annual Graphic Design Capstone Exhibition which took place from May 21nd until June 2nd. The exhibition offered students an opportunity to display their creative work, which covered a range of topics that included social, political, economic, and environmental issues. The students' work was a testament to their creativity and imagination, and it was on display in the lobby of the AUK campus, where visitors were invited to view the exhibits.

Showcase

The students showcased a variety of projects that were a result of their studies and research. Their projects ranged from graphic design to illustration, painting, and sculpture. The students used a variety of techniques and materials, including digital tools and traditional mediums, to create their works of art. Their creativity and dedication were evident in every piece.

Senior students Jesus Riaz and Alaa Al-Masahli, who co-ordinated the "Voice of Women" campaign and displayed their work in the exhibition, explained that their project was an effort to advocate for gender equality in Kuwait. They said, "We created this project to raise awareness about gender equality and to promote women's rights in Kuwait. We hope that our work will inspire others to take action and to support the cause." The project featured a series of posters and a video that highlighted the struggles of women in Kuwait.

A day after the event, there was a large turnout of visitors, with 250 people attending the opening ceremony and 1,100 people visiting the exhibition over the course of the week. The exhibition was open from May 21 to 25, and it was free to attend. Visitors were encouraged to interact with the students and to learn more about their work.

Alcoholics Anonymous: If you know someone who can't stop drinking and would like to talk to people who have been there, please contact us: rohsecretary@gmail.com or rohirr@rohir.org.

Alcoholics Anonymous: We are here to help with addiction problems. Totally confidential.

Cancer online support group: You can find more information on the website: http://canceronline.com/.

Cancer online support group: A support group for people with cancer, their families, and caregivers. We offer online support and resources to help you navigate the complex world of cancer care.

Chaos coaching, round robins: Registration is open for the next round of the Chaos coaching program. This program is designed to help you navigate the challenges of chaos and find your way forward.

Invitation to Grand Mosque: The Visitors of the Grand Mosque, which is one of Kuwait's most historic and beautiful mosques, are invited to come and explore its rich history, architecture, and culture. The mosque is open to visitors every day, and it offers a unique opportunity to experience Kuwait's rich cultural heritage.