Barty suffers shock 2nd-round loss in Toronto

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

TORONTO, Aug 7, (WTRS): A 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo

ATHENS, Aug 7, (RTRS): World number one Ash Barty's preparations for the US Open got off to a rocky start as the Australian suffered a shock defeat to 76-3, 6-3, 6-3 loss to American Sofia Kenin at the Rogers Cup.

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

Kyrgios, of Australia, reacts after hitting a forehand during his Rogers Cup tennis tournament first round match against Germany's Dominik Koepfer, in Montreal, Canada, Aug 6, 2019. (Photo by THE CANADIAN PRESS)

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.

TOKYO, Aug 7, (RTRS): A 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

TOKYO, Aug 7, (RTRS): A 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

The 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

Kathy Ong, of the United States, takes the first baton as the first leg of the 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims is handed over at the National Stadium in Tokyo, Aug 7, 2019. (Photo by DAIICHI KAGAKU)

The 1,000km relay, which involved 240 runners, started in Aomori and ended in Tokyo.

The USA, Russia, China and Colombia, which took part in the relay, each have 20 runners.

The first baton was beamed from Aomori to Aso, and then流转 to Kashiwazaki and Rokko Island.

The 1,000km relay is an annual event that takes place the country which was hit by a disaster.

The relay started in Aomori on Aug 6, and involved 245 runners from 19 countries.

The relay began in Aomori, Japan, and ended in Tokyo, Japan.

The relay, which covered 1,000km, started in Aomori on Aug 6 and ended in Tokyo on Aug 7.

The 1,000km relay, which started in Aomori on Aug 6 and ended in Tokyo on Aug 7, is a relay race organized by the Japan Olympic Committee.

The relay was held to honor the victims of the 2011 earthquake and tsunami.

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.

TORONTO, Aug 7, (WTRS): A 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

TOKYO, Aug 7, (RTRS): A 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

The 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims ends in Tokyo.

Kathy Ong, of the United States, takes the first baton as the first leg of the 1,000km relay to honour 2011 disaster victims is handed over at the National Stadium in Tokyo, Aug 7, 2019. (Photo by DAIICHI KAGAKU)

The 1,000km relay, which involved 240 runners, started in Aomori and ended in Tokyo.

The USA, Russia, China and Colombia, which took part in the relay, each have 20 runners.

The first baton was beamed from Aomori to Aso, and then流转 to Kashiwazaki and Rokko Island.

The 1,000km relay is an annual event that takes place the country which was hit by a disaster.

The relay started in Aomori, Japan, and ended in Tokyo, Japan.

The relay, which covered 1,000km, started in Aomori on Aug 6 and ended in Tokyo on Aug 7.

The 1,000km relay, which started in Aomori on Aug 6 and ended in Tokyo on Aug 7, is a relay race organized by the Japan Olympic Committee.

The relay was held to honor the victims of the 2011 earthquake and tsunami.

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.

Nick Kyrgios, of Australia, returns a shot to Sofia Kenin during a first round match at the Rogers Cup tennis tournament on Aug 6 in Toronto. (AP)

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.

Nick Kyrgios, of Australia, returns a shot to Sofia Kenin during a first round match at the Rogers Cup tennis tournament on Aug 6 in Toronto. (AP)

Kyrgios reverts to type with towel tantrum in Montreal

The Australian No. 1, who boasts a 46-11 record this year, had an emotional melt-down during his three-set loss to 78th-ranked German Dominik Koepfer. Kyrgios hit a towel over his face and then left the court.

The 23-year-old Kyrgios had just fired down a flawless 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 win over Canadian Milos Raonic in the Rogers Cup semifinal earlier in the week.