Geneva, June 8 (AP) -- Additional sanctions imposed on Iran by the United States showed Saturday that Washington’s offer to engage in nuclear talks with Tehran is not genuine, Iranian Foreign Ministry spokesman Abbas Mousavi said on Saturday.

In a statement to the Press, Mousavi said the United States has imposed new restrictive measures against the Islamic Republic of Iran, which are indicative of Washington’s determination to utterly fail the negotiations.

Mousavi said that the US has imposed new restrictive measures on the oil sector of Iran with the intention of choking off oil revenues, which has the purpose of hampering the nuclear negotiations.

Mousavi added that the new US sanctions target the state oil company, Impex, and the National Iranian Oil Co.

The US sanctions, Mousavi added, are part of a wider strategy to increase the pressure on Iran and prevent its return to the negotiating table.

Mousavi noted that in violation of its commitments, the US has imposed sanctions on institutions and companies that have been removed from the UN sanctions list and which have been removed from the US list.

Mousavi said the US is engaged in a campaign to undermine the credibility of the UN Security Council and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

Mousavi added that the US is determined to prevent Iran from benefiting from its nuclear program.

Mousavi concluded that the US sanctions are a clear indication of its determination to prevent Iran from returning to the negotiating table.

The Supreme Court upheld the Hyde Amendment in a 5-4 decision on June 8, 2019. The Hyde Amendment, a move to ban abortion for federal funding, was adopted by Congress in 1976. The amendment was initially intended to ban federal funding for abortions except in cases of rape, incest, or when the life of the mother was in danger. However, the amendment was eventually expanded to include other exceptions, such as when the health of the mother is at risk.

The Hyde Amendment was challenged in court multiple times, with the Supreme Court ultimately upholding it as constitutional. The amendment has been a contentious issue in American politics, with pro-choice and pro-life activists on opposing sides. The Hyde Amendment has been a key issue in the abortion debate in the United States, with some arguing that it is an infringement on a woman’s right to choose, while others argue that it is a necessary measure to protect the mother’s health.

The Hyde Amendment has been in effect since 1976, and it has been faced with challenges in court multiple times. In 2019, the Supreme Court upheld the Hyde Amendment in a 5-4 decision, ruling that the amendment is constitutional and that it does not violate the Constitution’s guarantees of free speech, free press, or the right to assemble.

Trump criticizes moon mission

NASA opening Intl space station to private visitors

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP) — President Trump on Friday told the audience at the International Space Station for 20 years. Trump announced Friday that the orbiting outpost is now open to business for private citizens, with the first "business trip" expected to be as early as next year.

"The last time we aired our space program on PBS, it cost us $110 million in federal funds. But tonight, we're making a $110 million investment. That's a huge investment," Trump said at the opening of the summit on "much bigger" initiatives like going to Mars, the moon by 2024 and urging the space agency to focus its resources on those activities will help the agency focus its resources on building a platform someday.

The NASA officials said some revenue from commercial activities will help the agency focus its resources on building a platform someday.

The agency hopes will inherit the orbiting outpost on board.

Eventually, the space station will become a resource for the nation's citizens, and Bill Gerstenmaier, NASA's associate administrator for the Human Exploration and Operations Mission, said the agency will need to work with the international partners to make sure the station is safe for the public.

The announced Friday that the orbiting outpost is now open to business for private citizens, with the first "business trip" expected to be as early as next year.

"There is a catch, though: You'll need to raise your own cash, and it won't be cheap."

The space station has reduced tourism before by way of Russian rockets. In 2011, California businessman Dennis Tito became the first visitor by paying for a journey to the space station on a US-operated rocket. And since then, several others have followed. Depending on the market, the agency will allow up to 100 private citizens per year to fly to the space station.

Getting out first step for introvert seeking friends
By Abigail Van Buren
Dear Abby:
Do you have any advice on how I can make friends as an introvert? I’m not good at starting conversations and would rather spend time alone. Is it possible for me to still get a life without socializing?

Abby:
It is possible to get a life without socializing, but it’s not for everyone. If you’re an introvert, then you’re likely to feel overwhelmed by too much social stimulation. If you enjoy spending time with yourself and your pets, then you may not need to make friends.

If you want to make friends, you can do so by joining groups or clubs that you enjoy. You can also make friends by volunteering or participating in activities that interest you.

You can also make friends by meeting new people at events or activities. If you’re not good at starting conversations, then you can try to listen to others and ask questions. You can also try to find common interests with others and talk about them.

Congratulations on getting out of the house! You can start by making friends, but it’s not necessary. You can also continue to enjoy your time alone and your pets.

Dear Homebody:
Start making plans to get out of your parents’ house and meet people.混凝土贴面可以单独使用或与其他材料结合使用，以满足不同的功能需求。它们可以是硬质或软质的，可以根据需要定制不同的形状和颜色。

Dear Homebody:
I am writing to you about my parents. I am a recent college graduate with a concern about my parents’ health. My parents are both over 60 years old and have a tendency to overeat and not pay attention to their health. How can I encourage them to eat healthier?

Abby:
It can be a challenge to encourage someone to eat healthier, but there are things you can do to try to encourage your parents. You can start by talking to them about the importance of good nutrition and the benefits of eating a healthy diet.

You can also try to make healthier choices when you’re cooking for them. You can also try to involve them in the decision-making process by asking them what they would like to eat.

It’s important to remember that you can’t强迫 someone to eat healthier. You can encourage your parents to make healthier choices, but you can’t强迫 them to do so.

Patient Network to support people with obesity across MidEast

Kuwait anchors its own footprint in ‘Days for Girls’ movement

By Chaitali R. Roy
Special to the Arab Times

A break in the ceiling of a women’s health club in Kuwait was to be transformed into a women’s health and lifestyle centre. A programme marks World Obesity’s commitment to support people with obesity across the Gulf and Lebanon, is being launched in Kuwait, introduced the project to local women and girls, and had several people volunteer to help.

Kuwaiti girls can now share their story. By sharing your personal experience, you can help improve the lives of people who are affected by obesity. In the last four years, the number of adults living with obesity in Kuwait has increased from 31% to 37.9%. This is a worrying trend, and we need your help to make a difference.

In the UK, Lucy Kirkpatrick, Director of Communications and Partnerships at World Obesity, said: “We are living with obesity and want a source of evidence-based information and support to help people to live a healthy, active lifestyle.”

The Global Patient Network combines evidence and lessons on key factors associated with obesity in the Gulf, including changes in food habits and increased consumption of fast food. Supporting children and adolescents to make healthier choices and live actively can help reduce the risk of obesity, and improving physical activity levels.

Kuwait’s first major initiative in the region is the Patient Network, a source of facts and support for people living with obesity to manage weight loss and live a healthy, active lifestyle.

A group of volunteers were assembled to share their personal experiences with obesity and explain treatment options available. Obesity is a complex disease that is driven by a multitude of factors, including lifestyle, environmental, cultural, and biological factors. The Patient Network is an opportunity for people to share their own experiences and engage with others to support people living with obesity to manage weight loss and live a healthy, active lifestyle.

The website will be promoted over the coming months via social media and traditional media channels. If you have a story to share, simply log on to www.worldobesity.org/patientportal.

Days for Girls empowers not only recipients but also volunteers, advocates, partnerships, social enterprises, businesses to better themselves. Both girls and women who have been involved in the project have found that it is empowering and has positive effects on their lives. They have learned to value their own worth and to make choices that are good for their health.

Bonnie Caldwell, an American based in Kuwait, introduced the project to Kuwait. Bonnie had attended a workshop in the USA where she learned about Days for Girls and worked on a project to support girls in underprivileged countries. She shared her experience with Harriet and had several people volunteer to help.

One of the key health and lifestyle challenges facing our region is obesity. The Patient Network is an opportunity for people with obesity to manage weight loss and live a healthy, active lifestyle.

WASHINGTON, June 6, 2019 (Xinhua) — If you’re taking vitamin D and expecting to lower your expectations. Vitamin D fails to prevent type 2 diabetes. New England Journal of Medicine and International Diabetes Federation say the disease, which can often be prevented with diet and exercise.

Pittas, co-director of the Diabetes and Lipid Center at Tufts Medical Center in Boston, said: "These people would need to double their vitamin D intake to lower their diabetes risk. It appears to be a benefit, but we would urge caution and not have people over-supplement very low levels of vitamin D, there were already at high risk for developing type 2 diabetes when you get older, it’s too late to lower your expectations. WASHINGTON, June 8, (RTS): US job growth showed sharply in May and wages rose less than expected, raising fears that a loss of momentum in economic activity could be spreading to the labor market, which could put pressure on the Federal Reserve to cut interest rates this year.

Average hourly earnings rose 0.2% in May, up 3.1% year-on-year, the lowest since the second quarter of 2017 and below expectations of a 0.3% rise. Pakistan welcomes the first British Airways (BA) flight after a decade-long ab- sentee. The BA flight arrived in Karachi on Saturday as part of the airline’s summer schedule, resuming a journey that had been dormant for over a decade.

BA’s Boeing 787 ‘Dreamliner’ landed in Karachi in the early morning, beginning a three-part flight series between the two nations. "Pakistan’s Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi said: ‘High-flying Paki- stan and Britain’s embassy officials wel- comed the flight, which returned to Brit- ain the same day.’

Mr Qureshi added: ‘It is an excellent opportunity that we have for connectivity and cooperation. Pakistanis will find it easy, convenient and comfortable to travel around the US. This includes the con- ventional meetings in “Fed Listens” events review involves a series of town-hall style meetings in the US. The meetings are expected to attract high-level experts and community leaders to discuss the evolving economy, the changes are of paramount importance to the future of the US economy. The response is expected to be finalized in early November. If the Fed does take action on interest rate changes, it is likely to be a sign of increasing demand for lower rates in the near future, as investors in the growing economy are seeking to jump on the bandwagon.

The existing framework is a “flex- ible inflation target,” in which the Fed aims to set the interest rate to target the rate of inflation. The Fed has set the inflation target at 2%, but the inflation rate is currently averaging around 1.5%. The Fed’s new policy framework will be a "forward-looking” approach to inflation, and will be a step towards a new approach to monetary policy.

The new form of framework implies that the Fed will focus on inflation in the future, rather than in the past. The central bank has already started to pay attention to inflation expectations, which are currently higher than expected. The Fed will likely be more responsive to inflation and financial conditions, which are currently very low. The Fed is expected to implement a "forward-guiding” approach to monetary policy, and will communicate its expectations to the public.

The new framework is likely to be implemented in the coming months, and will be followed by a gradual increase in interest rates. The Fed is expected to increase interest rates by 25 basis points in the next few months.

India plans to order taxi aggregators like Uber, Ola to go electric

New Delhi: India has started consultations with Uber and Ola to convert 40% of their taxi fleet to electric by April 2026, with the country planning a fleet of cars to electric by April 2026, according to a source and records of EV manufacturers and offering incentives to test operating an electric fleet. For India, which is now the world's second-largest emitter of greenhouse gases, becoming virtually emission-free is likely to help it meet its Paris Climate Goals. In India, the electric vehicles market is likely to witness a surge in demand in the coming years, as the government continues to promote the use of electric vehicles.

NEW YORK, June 8 (REUTERS): US Treasury yields tumbled on Friday after a downdraft in US job growth fuelled hopes of a US interest rate cut, while Washington’s move to delay tariffs on Chinese goods added to equity market enthusiasm.

The US dollar index also dropped and gold prices rallied to their highest levels since April, following the US Labor Department’s report on US non-farm payrolls. The US Federal Reserve has repeatedly said in recent months that a sharp fall in the US unemployment rate would not be sufficient to support a rate cut.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 116.29 points, or 0.45%, at 25,958.82. The S&P 500 rose 11.31 points, or 0.43%, to 2,695.80. The Nasdaq Composite added 22.95 points, or 0.30%, to 7,742.10.

We know from experience that bond markets are quite good at predicting future economic developments and what’s being priced in more and more is the clash with the US – suggest bonds globally have swelled to over $10 trillion, banks estimate.

The pool of negative-yielding bonds globally has swelled to over $10 trillion, banks estimate. The negative-yielding bond market has expanded to include not only European government bonds but also corporate bonds, particularly in Japan. The yield on some 10-year Japanese government bonds is now about -0.5%, while yields on 30-year government bonds in Germany are near 0%.

For central banks, especially the European Central Bank (ECB), the challenge is how to continue supporting the economy without further depressing yields. The ECB has already cut its key interest rate to a record low of -0.5%, but it has ruled out negative rates on deposit rates, which would be considered too radical.

"There is one thing I know," he said. "It is not going to be easy for the curve to invert. There are going to be some ups and downs in the curve," added. "And that's that I don't want to suppress long-dated yields, making demand for bonds from institutional investors easier for the curve to invert."

The curve and the correlation between bond yields and the US dollar have both been key indicators for economic growth.

"A very strong sign that markets are bracing for more rate cuts, the US 10-year Treasury yield is now below 1.5%," he said. "The 2-year yield is also below 1%, suggesting expectations for a US recession are declining."

The curve was inverted in early 2020, when short-term yields fell below long-term yields, indicating a recession. But after the US Federal Reserve cut interest rates to near zero in March, the curve inverted again, reflecting expectations of a deep recession. The curve then inverted again in early 2021, as the US economy recovered from the pandemic.

"The curve is a very important indicator for economic growth," he said. "It is not going to be easy for the curve to invert. There are going to be some ups and downs in the curve," added. OSCE, Krakow, June 8 (RTKR): Croatia prevented Poland from advancing from Group E after veteran Ivan Perisic scored one goal and put in a man-of-the-match performance to help the 2012 World Cup runners-up to a 2-1 home win over Poland in a Euro 2020 qualifier on Wednesday.

Drivers of the two cars that crashed and burned in the vicinity of a beach at the popular seaside resort of Qawra, fell asleep at the wheel, according to police. They were taken to hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

The changes were announced by the European Commission last month, but details of the impact on travel and work were left to the individual countries to decide.

The next group stage match in the championship will take place at the famous Wembley Stadium in London on June 15, when England will face Switzerland.

The Netherlands meet hosts Scotland at Hampden Park on the same day, while France play Hungary in Budapest.

Poland's Krzysztof Piatek has been given a red card for a challenge on Croatia's Dejan Lovren during the Euro 2020 Group G qualifying soccer match between Croatia and Poland at Ivan Sadiku Stadium in Podgorica, Montenegro, on June 8, 2019.

Perisic equalled the second-highest goal scoring record for Croatia with his 35th international goal on Wednesday. He is among the favourites for the top goal scorer award along with Harry Kane of England and Robert Lewandowski of Poland.

Consumers who sit in cars and watch soccer matches in the stands are at risk of glass injuries, according to the European Commission.

The two teams met for the first time in a competitive match at the Stadio Delle Alpi in Turin in 1985, with Italy prevailing 2-0. They have played four times since then, with the last meeting coming in 2009, which ended in a 2-2 draw.

The match was officiated by Italian referee Nicola Rizzoli.

The Netherlands' 1994 World Cup star Krasimir Balakov scored a goal down to spoil the coaching debut of Horia Socar at his home in Barcelona. It's unclear due to personal reasons.

According to the report, Italy's Malinovski faces a four-year ban from soccer-related activities for a cumulative total of five offenses.

The Czechs, who have qualified for each European Championship and have been one of the highest ranked nations in Europe, are a team with a rich history.

PARIS, June 8, (RTRS): Austria’s Dominic Thiem plays a shot against Serbia’s Novak Djokovic during the men’s semifinal match of the French Open tennis tournament at the Roland Garros stadium in Paris on June 8 (AP).

The 25-year-old Thiem, who is in his first Grand Slam final, has won seven of his eight meetings against the 32-year-old Djokovic but failed to win a set in their three previous French Open matches.

A defeat would see Thiem end his season without a title. He has won three of his nine ATP tournaments this season but has yet to win a singles title.

It will be Thiem’s fourth French Open final, while Djokovic will be making his 10th.

The winner will face the winner of the other semifinal between Switzerland’s Roger Federer and Spain’s Rafael Nadal in the final on Sunday.

Thiem said he had no complaints about rain during the match.

Djokovic, who had looked in control for most of the match, said he was disappointed with the match’s conduct.

The match was played through a series of stops and starts due to rain and was spread across two days.

A victory would see Thiem claim his first French Open title and Djokovic would win his 18th Grand Slam title.

Earlier, ninth-seeded Tunisian Monfils beat second-seeded Briton Kyle Edmund 6-7(1), 6-4, 6-2 to advance to the semifinals.

The French Open is the only Grand Slam to be played on clay, and the match was played through a series of stops and starts due to rain and was spread across two days.

LONDON, June 8 (Reuters). Australia captain Aaron Finch felt the opening England batsmen had laid the foundation that allowed his team to clinch victory.

England need two more runs to claim a dramatic win over West Indies in their World Cup opener on Saturday.

England dominated the match from the start and the West Indies were never able to get going.

England captain Joe Root hit a century and Jos Buttler scored 50 as England won by 107 runs.

England needed seven wickets to win but survived the final over to claim the victory.

The victory put England into the semi-finals of the tournament and they have won their first three matches.

Pakistan, Sri Lanka share points after Bristol washout

Australia’s World Cup match against Sri Lanka was called off when a heavy drizzle after persistent rain in Bristol.

Cricinfo moderated an inspection at 5:15 pm (1415 GMT) local time before deciding that no play would be possible in the damp conditions.

Both teams took each point from the washout and these from their opening three matches.

Sri Lanka last won their World Cup in the 1996 edition, while Pakistan have never won the title.

England now have two wins from three games and are back on track.

The victory was also a relief for the England team after their opening loss to New Zealand in their World Cup opener.

Batty wins French Open for 1st GS title

Ashleigh Barty, the French Open tennis tournament at the Roland Garros stadium in Paris on Saturday night.

She became the first Australian woman to win a Grand Slam title since Martina Navratilova in 1982.

Barty defeated Marketa Vondrousova of the Czech Republic in the women’s final to run more than an hour late.

Barty was simply smarter throughout the final.

While the match was no classic, Barty was simply smarter throughout.

Barty lost her opening match of the tournament, but she dominated her final.
