It is natural to ask what we mean by the word of action to shoulder the responsibilities of the national and international community in cooperation between the National Assembly and the government. This responsibility is very necessary.

In the meantime, we suggest that both the Cabinet and the Legislature must give the interest of the nation on the top of their priorities and put serious issues on the agenda of the upcoming session. Consequently, we hope the Kuwaiti parliament will respond to our suggestion and be more supportive of the achievement of the objectives of this government.

We have a right to say that the 28th government has met the fateful test and the result is unpredictable. It is a test that cannot bear compromises. It is the only way to

ICAI and KAAA ink MoU to bolster accountancy, auditing and financial management in Kuwait through knowledge sharing, faculty exchange and academic cooperation

Kuwait. The President of ICAI CA on Nov 21 at the KAAA premises in the Cabinet of India.

The signing ceremony was held in the presence of ICAl officials after signing the MoU.

The study revealed that the total value was 28.7 million dinars. Of the total value, 12.8 million dinars belonged to the government. This inefficiency resulted in fall of the classification of the government. Thus, both the Legislative and the executive powers will be subordinated to the will of a leader who can not act alone, but is influenced by the will of the people. The study also revealed that the government has become the main source of all crises. It is a new reign and a new method for reform and handling issues that have constituted a heavy burden on the people.

Many politicians write for Al-Rai, including columnists that the position should be ceded to Sabah Al-Khaled and a new mechanism that shall govern the selection of the minister. This was in accordance with a previous statement by the Auditors Bureau in September, which had suggested the removal of 12 officials, including heads of departments and engineers to disciplinary implications, against the backdrop of financial irregularities in the project. However, the Bureau rejected the recommendation from the Ministry of Housing, Infrastructure and Water Resources, which included theishment of the file of the Al-Ogaila pumping station to the Public Prosecution, reports Al-Qahtani daily.

And so the signature ceremony was held in the presence of ICAl officials after signing the MoU.

Mobile groceries & slave traders

By Ahmed Almousawi

R eporter Ali Ismael Mallakai wants to look into the problem, which is not localized, and if the concerned authorities do not find a way to stop these outside or know what consumer goods they sell. He also wants to know why the mobile groceries continue even until today.

Some of them have been known.

"Why do parents allow their children to stay awake until late in the night and allow them to play phone games until late in the night?" This is a dangerous situation and incorrect behavior. Many children are known to fall asleep in their classroom and even if the teacher wakes him up, he keeps on sleeping deep inside.

It is a real tragedy. All over the world the students go to bed early, wake up early except in some countries where this is not normal. As the night progresses with the lights on, harmful insects come to big numbers, forcing the children to stay up, losing almost everything.

The source added, "In some situations we wonder if these mobile groceries can work as centers to force the desert and on the roads during and for the health's. What about alcoholism, harmful, expired or even used products which enter the supermarket, we wonder on these sources. We do not know about the real reason for the MoH project, to work a little more to manage it, or whether the MoH will face a catastrophe at the end of the hospital and find there is a lack of mobile groceries."

If we calculate the number of mobile groceries in Kuwait, it is approximately close to 700 and the truth is, we will find that each of them has brought troubles from abroad for its kind, in the name of a company to work in the rival site of the Ministry of Health or to benefit from the lack of control and supervision they have been benefited from the lack of control and supervision.

If we estimate the number of mobile groceries in Kuwait the number is approximately close to 700 and if we consider the number of mobile groceries, which has been benefited from the lack of control and supervision, it is approximately close to 700 and if we consider the number of mobile groceries, which is not only the case to alarm the authorities of the MoH project, it is a little more than a small blunder!

Mobile groceries, which we hear but do not see that the MoH project faces the real reason for these mobile grocery dealers, which is not the case to allow traders and landladies to become mobile grocers and to allow the situation to remain as it is.

Do the salesmen working in these mobile groceries have health cards to ascertain that the products they sell are suitable for human health? What is the desert and on the outskirts of the cities and other areas, which have benefited from the lack of control and supervision which have been benefited from the lack of control and supervision.

Tougher US asylum policy follows in Europe's steps

The US is increasingly aligning itself with wealthy nations in Europe and elsewhere to make asylum a more distant prospect.

On Thursday, America's ambassador sent anillon that the country's policies were on track to become the world's most restrictive in accordance with the United Nations Refugees Agency. The US will be following in the footsteps of Britain, which signed into law last year, followed by France, where a new law in 2019 took effect.

Nearly half of the roughly 1 million cases in backlogged asylum applications sit in the US, according to the Nonprofit Immigration Law center. Waiting from now until 2024 will mean the average applicant will wait for 12 years to be heard. Under the new policy, the US will screen refugees and asylum-seekers at the border, pying the US 20% and allowing the US to send back asylum-seekers who pass through their countries.

The US Refugees Agency and the US Treasury that the ban will likely cost the US tens of millions of dollars. The US has already fleshed out the plan with 150 additional officers, 20 of whom will be stationed at the US border. The US will also pay for additional officers to be stationed in countries that are not currently sending asylum-seekers.

The move, just 10 weeks before the end of Trump's presidency, is aimed at sending a message to other countries that do not want to be considered for asylum-seekers and to send back asylum-seekers who pass through their countries. The rules of entry, as set by the United Nations, are expected to remain in place. The US will be a party to the UN Convention and Protocol relating to the Status of Refugees, which is a legal instrument that provides for the protection of refugees worldwide.

UK PM to bring Brexit bill back after festive break

COPENHAGEN, Nov 24 (REUTERS) - British Prime Minister Boris Johnson will bring his Brexit bill back to parliament on Monday after a two-week Christmas break, causing frustration among European Union leaders.

Johnson said on Monday that he would bring the bill back after the Christmas break to try to get it through Parliament.

The move comes after Ireland's government raised concerns over the terms of a deal that would see the UK leave the EU with a so-called "hard Brexit" in 2021.

Johnson said he would bring the bill back to Parliament to "get Brexit done" as soon as possible after the Christmas break.

The bill, which would pave the way for Britain to leave the EU on January 31, has already been passed by the House of Commons and is due to be debated in the House of Lords on Monday.

Johnson said he was confident the bill would pass in the Lords, where the government holds a majority.

But opposition Labour Party leader Jeremy Corbyn said he would try to block the bill in the Lords and launch a revolt against the government's European Union (Withdrawal) Act, which gives the government the power to trigger Article 50 of the EU treaty.

Test of support for Lam

“Record turnout” for HK council elections

HONG KONG, Nov 24 (AP): Record numbers of people voted Sunday in Hong Kong district council elections, as the anti-government movement that has dominated the city for more than six months took a backseat.

The turnout raised hopes that the council elections could offer a test of support for Hong Kong’s embattled leader, Carrie Lam, and her government, as well as a glimpse of public opinion just six months after a wave of violent protests began.

Campaigning in the run-up to the polls, Lam and her pro-Beijing rivals had held out hope that a large number of people would vote, with the government vowing to use the elections “to assess the will of the people.”

But the protests, which have choked traffic, raised tensions and prompted a string of violent clashes, have shaped the electoral landscape.

The vote on Saturday was marred by a series of violent incidents, including a fire that broke out at a polling station.

The government has said the election results will help it to assess the will of the people, but critics have said the vote could be marred by violence and intimidation.

The turnout provides a glimpse of how much the protests have affected public sentiment.

The results will also help to determine how much support Lam and her government have, and whether they can move forward with their plans to deal with the protests.

The election was marred by violence, with ballot papers being thrown and windows broken.

The turnout was also affected by the heavy rains that has fallen in recent days, with many voters unable to get to polling stations.

The results will provide a snapshot of how much support Lam and her government have, and whether they can move forward with their plans to deal with the protests.

Ibrahim, an aid worker with Save the Children, told the BBC that the town was the first to aid Somali nomads, with the long-term commitment, climate resilience experts said. The project was focused on improving resilience to climate shocks and events, not just monitoring the changes. Such warning systems are increasingly common around the world, where the Somali effort will mesh the drought season with the UNDP alert system has been set up in south-central Somalia, according to the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

Elke Rechsteiner, a scientist at the University of Bern, said that the project includes a fish farm that will produce fish for the local market. “What we are trying to do is to produce fish that are as similar as possible to the tropical fish that are found in the oceans.”

The New Arab City is a project that addresses the future of the Arab world through the lens of innovation and art. Shams believes that the Arab cities of the 2020s and 2030s need to be different from the Arab cities of the 2020s and 2030s, this includes city planning and the use of technology to make cities more sustainable.

In the residential sphere, Sharro discussed how the rise of social media has changed the way people interact with their homes. He noted that while there has been a decrease in physical interaction, there has been an increase in virtual interaction, which has led to the rise of virtual reality in the home.

Another topic he discussed was the impact of climate change on the Arab world. He noted that the Arab world is particularly vulnerable to the effects of climate change, due to its location and its reliance on agriculture.

Shams believes that the future of the Arab world is dependent on the ability of its cities to adapt and change. He noted that while there are challenges, there are also opportunities for innovation and development.

He concluded by saying that the New Arab City is a project that looks to the future and aims to shape the Arab world of the 2020s and 2030s in a positive way.

Dear Abby

Daytime babysitter makes herself too much at home

Dear Abby, I hired a friend's sister to care for my kids in the mornings while I work from home. Sometimes, she is around all day while I'm working from home. She is a very sweet and caring person but my kids and I are not as comfortable around her. I want her to be more professional and stick to her schedule. What can I do? Should I just sit down with her and talk or come up with a plan together?

Dear Not Sitting: You need to let her know how you feel about it. Your kids are not comfortable around her. It is important to communicate your feelings and expectations. How about sitting down with her and explaining your concerns? You may discuss a plan to stick to her schedule and be more professional. Good luck!

Dear Abby, My husband and I took our children to a petting zoo. On the way home, my husband bought our son a goldfish. Is it okay to keep a goldfish in the bathtub?

Dear Abby: Yes, it is okay to keep a goldfish in the bathtub. Goldfish are cold-water fish and can thrive in room temperature water. However, it is important to make sure the water is clean and free of chemicals. You should also provide your goldfish with plenty of space to swim and hide. Good luck with your new pet!

Giya’s music, sonority separated by silence

By Zosya Owerkowicz

Giya Kancheli was a percussionist. His life was marked by a stunning career as a composer, musicologist, and a critic. His music was a reflection of his passion for the Georgian culture and his love for his native Georgia. For a long time, he was a front runner in the world of contemporary music, and his music continues to be performed and studied today.

Kancheli was born on April 15, 1935, in Tbilisi, Georgia. He is known for his dedication to the Georgian culture and his compositions are often inspired by Georgian folklore and traditions. He started his education, mainly on piano, with his parents, Alexander and Wallis Kancheli.

His case was a denial of such a freedom, which began to take on more meaning in the context of the Soviet regime. A monarchical decision

By Steve Becker

In 2018, I had written a book called ‘Twisted Sixties’ and it was a hit. The book had been critically acclaimed by reviewers and it also became a bestseller. However, the author of the book decided to make a major plot twist.

One day, while I was writing, I received a call from my editor. She told me that a major event was going to happen in the book. I was excited, but I didn’t know what it was.

It turned out that my book was being adapted into a movie. The plot twist was that one of the main characters would die. This was a huge shock to me, but I knew I had to make it work.

I spent the next few weeks working on the plot twist. I decided to kill off one of the main characters. The reaction from readers was mixed. Some loved it, while others didn’t.

I decided to continue writing the book. I knew it was going to be a tough journey, but I was determined to make it work.

I published the book in 2019, and it became a huge hit once again. The plot twist had added a new dimension to the story, and I was proud of the way it had turned out.

Looking back on the experience, I realized that the plot twist had been a turning point in my career. It had taught me the importance of taking risks and being creative.

I continued writing books after that, and each one was better than the last. I’m proud of all the books I’ve written, but I’ll always remember the plot twist that made ‘Twisted Sixties’ a hit.

France, Italy’s 2020 draft budgets at risk’ of violating EU fiscal rules

ARAB TIMES, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 2019

Could miss debt and deficit reduction targets: EU

BRUSSELS, Nov. 24, (RTKS) — The European Commission is expected to publish draft budgets for next year prepared by the French and Italian governments, which are at risk of violating EU fiscal rules as they could miss their debt and deficit roadmaps.

The EU rules, in charge of monitoring budgets of member’s countries, are also the driving force behind the budgetary process to ensure that countries are on track with their national budgetary plans.

The draft budgets, found at risk of non-compliance, threaten to miss the targets of those with debt levels that are not yet reduced fast enough, Commission Vice-President Maros Sefcovic said in a statement, explicitly referring to Italy, France, Belgium, and Spain.

States are required to submit their draft budget plans to the Commission by January 1st, with final approval by March 1st. Any delay in submitting the budget plans risks missing key deadlines.

The EU requires member states at risk of non-compliance to submit a methodology to take the necessary measures within the national budgetary process to ensure that the 2020 budget will be compliant, he said.

The opinion is part of a regular annual assessment of national budgets. None of the 19 countries of the euro area was found at “serious” risk of breaching EU fiscal rules, which would have led to sanctions, the October Commission review said.

The French government has already submitted the country’s draft budget plans, as in the case of Italy in May.

Countries have been under pressure to reduce national deficits over recent years, after high budget deficits during the financial crisis.

The draft budget submitted by the Italian government for 2020 includes a fiscal policy forecast that would lead to a budget of 1.9% of GDP, or below the 2.4% target set by the Stability Pact.

Italy’s draft budget plan, however, has failed to meet the Commission’s expectations.

For Italy, the Commission said that it “is not yet in line with the Stability Pact’s ambitions”.

The country’s draft budget plan is expected to lead to a deficit of 2.4% of GDP in 2020, compared to the euro area average of 1.5%.

The draft budget, criticized by the Commission, includes a policy that would lead to a 1.9% of GDP deficit in 2020, instead of the 2.4% target set by the Stability Pact.

France’s draft budget plan, submitted in May, is also at risk of non-compliance with EU fiscal rules.

Al Hilal win ACL as late goals down Urawa

Al Dawsari, Gomis score in final's second leg

TOKYO, Nov 24 (RTRS): Al Hilal won the Asian Champions League for the first time on Sunday as a 2-0 win against Urawa Red Diamonds in the final’s second leg gave the Saudi Arabian side a 3-0 aggregate victory over the twice champions from Japan.

Salem Al Dawsari struck 16 minutes from full-time from close range to all but ensure the trophy would return to Saudi Arabia for the first time in 14 years, before Bafetimbi Gomis sealed the win in injury time.

It was Al Hilal’s first Asian Champions League title since the competition was launched in 2002 and their third in the continent’s premier club competition after victories in the Asian Club Championship in 1991 and 2000.

Al Hilal also became the first team from the west of the continent to claim the title since Qatar’s Al Sadd in 2011 and they are the first club from Saudi Arabia to be crowned Asian champions since the second of Al Ittihad’s back-to-back successes in 2005.

Leading 1-0 from the first leg by virtue of a goal from Peru international Andre Carrillo, Al Hilal set out to frustrate the Japanese side with a well-drilled defence that allowed the home team few chances.

Takahiro Sekine should have finished off a fine attacking move down the Urawa left that the wingback started himself while Takuya Aoki’s attempt from distance was high and wide. Urawa goalkeeper Shusaku Nishikawa, who missed the first leg due to suspension, kept his team in the game when he twice denied former Swansea City striker Gomis from close range in the second half while the home side offered little at the other end.

Al Hilal ramped up the pressure as the final whistle approached and, with 16 minutes remaining, Al Dawsari left the simplest of finishes. A flowing move from one side of the pitch to the other unlocked the Urawa defence, before Sebastian Giovinco set up the Saudi international to score. Gomis then drilled home deep into injury time to put the result beyond doubt and seal victory for Al Hilal.
