KUWAIT CITY, July 16: While the Sourq. State Security reified the five members of a gang – one of which is a Bangladeshi resident, who frequently travels to the region, which eventually led to his arrest – the Public Prosecution, the results of the investigations have raised many questions whether the “network” was merely a “vehicle” to transport money involved in money laundering operations, or if the money was profit-only or if the mastermind of other operations, however, remains unknown.

“His Excellency the Amir” approved the security and permanent acts and the evaluation of the case, according to the report issued against the background of the demands of Kuwaitis without any deviation, and that the case has been classified as one of the original powers. In the same context, some sections of the media outlets and social media media have published stories that the case is under investigation by the Security Forces, with the aim of protecting employees and citizens.

The statement has been issued by the Ministry of Health, reaffirming its steps to protect employees and citizens, and that the case is under investigation, including the detection of the networks and the identification of the members of the “network”.

KUWAIT CITY, July 16: Prominent models of the Islamic Constitutional Movement (KICM) and former MP Khaldoun Al-Duwaihah was referred to the State Security Department Wednesday at noon after a long wait. The security sources said the Prosecution decided, Wednesday, to refer the five members of a “network” to the State Security, following the completion of investigations focused on the tweets attributed to Al-Duwaihah with Gaddafi conversations leaked for the second time.

The security sources added that the患神 an arrest warrant against Al-Duwaihah including what it called revealing the “true content”, boasting about his role in the removal of the current government, and that the arrest warrant against Al-Duwaihah who was referred to the State Security Department.

The security sources confirmed that the investigations focused on the tweets attributed to Al-Duwaihah on his Twitter account and that he claimed that he traveled to Libya with the knowledge of His Highness the Amir, and that the arrest warrant was issued against him for his tweets.

MALO'S Staff allowed to take 'leave'!

KUWAIT CITY, July 16: Ministry of Communications is ready to receive job applications from Bedouin residents and children of Kuwaiti women, who hold a degree in law with a grade of "Good", reports Al-Rai daily quoting informed sources from the ministry.

They affirmed that priority will be for graduates of Kuwait University followed by the Gulf universities, as per the regulations set by the Civil Service Commission (CSC).

The sources indicated that the ministry will receive requests at the administrative offices within the headquarters of the ministry in Shuwailah area during the official working hours.

They revealed that the qualified applicants will be contacted after attending personal interviews, after which the required number will be chosen and the list will be submitted to CSC to endorse their nomination to work in the Legal Affairs Department of Ministry of Communications.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary of the Ministry of Health Dr Muna liza issued a circular on Wednesday as per which employees of the ministry will be allowed to take leave during the period from July 19 to October 1 in line with specific conditions, reports Al-Rai daily.

According to the circular, these conditions include:
- They should not have gone on leave during the past six months.
- The leave period should not exceed 14 days.
- If the leave period is spent outside the country, the requirements of the public health sector and the technical administration for home quarantine related to health sector workers apply.

The circular affirmed that the concerned direct supervisor has to coordinate the vacations so that the percentage of employees taking leave at a time does not exceed 15 percent of the workforce, and considering the fact that the work need and service performance are not affected.

CSC nominates 314 citizens specialized in economics

KUWAIT CITY, July 16: Following a recession that lasted for months due to the COVID-19 crisis and the layoffs of employees in the private sector, especially contracting companies, restaurants and delivery services, the labor market has returned to recruitment of workers to fill the deficit that resulted from these layoffs, such that the most prominent title of the current stage is "required to work", reports Al-Dahais daily.

The daily followed scores of job advertisements during the past two weeks and monitored the control of demand for delivery services over the labor required in the labor market, whether for individuals or companies, alongside job advertisements for marketing services via the Internet.

According to the sources, the request for secretarial services, accountants and designers, and computer equipment administrators is in great demand, and the experienced demand has gained increasing demand. The most prominent feature of the company is that it prefers to hire those who wish to work temporary between KD 250 and KD 450 for delivery jobs, while others linked the "required to work" to experience and job capabilities.

Meanwhile, statistics issued by the National Labor Secretariat of the Public Authority for Manpower revealed that there are 1,051,000 of Kuwaitis waiting for jobs, while 16,151 have already started working. They affirmed that priority will be for graduates of Kuwait University followed by the Gulf universities, as per the regulations set by the Civil Service Commission (CSC).

Meanwhile, Civil Service Commission (CSC) recently raised the number of registered applicants for all specialties to 16,343, which are already set to work in government and about 15 billion dinars worth of petrochemical products worth machinery, electronic devices, the automobile, spare parts, and other accessories are already set to work, indicating the spread of COVID-19 pandemic, indicating the need and service performance are of the utmost importance in the current stage.

Turkey marks fourth anniversary of attempted 2016 coup

Turkey marked the fourth anniversary of an attempted 2016 military coup on July 15, 2020. In a speech, the Turkish president slammed those who tried to overthrow the government on July 15, 2016. A total of 242 people were killed and around 2,200 were wounded as government service members fired on people and bombed parliament and other government buildings. Around 35 suspected participants in the coup died. Erdogan has vowed that the trial continues. More than 130,000 people were tried from public sector officials and politicians of the failed coup. Critics say the arrests and dismissals were too far, targeting all opposition.

Pompeo downplays ‘summit’ possibility

SEoul, South Korea, July 16, 2020 (AP) – US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo declined the prospect of a third Trump-Kim summit meeting in the near future today, saying Trump only wants to engage in a summit if there is a legitimate prospect to make progress.

But other observers see another Trump-Kim meeting wouldn’t be impractical, given the long-term relationship between the US and North Korea, and the interest of both sides in finding a path to peace and denuclearization. Some experts say another summit would be a way to re-engage with North Korea and to avoid various sanctions that have been imposed since the Trump administration took office. Others say another summit would not be possible because of the US election.

But if a Trump-Kim summit were to happen, it would depend on the determination of the two leaders. Lee Jong-seok, the sister of the North Korean leader, said she doesn’t expect the meeting to take place before the US election, and she doesn’t think one would be possible until after the election.

“Kim Jong-un wants to return to negotiations after the US election,” she said. “But Trump doesn’t want to engage in a summit without a legitimate prospect to make progress.”

President Joe Biden, who will take office in January, is expected to take a more aggressive approach to North Korea and to seek to engage with the regime, but it is unclear if the two leaders will be able to make progress.

Meanwhile, the city government of the South Korean capital, Seoul, has announced that the sculpture will be removed by the council 24 hours later. (AP)

Pompeo’s comments come as concerns grow about the lack of progress in nuclear talks with North Korea, which has already convened and suspended talks with the US and South Korea.

But the US and South Korea have chosen at this point in time not to engage in a summit without a legitimate prospect to make progress.

“You need to have a willing partner, and the North Korean leadership needs to be willing to engage in a summit,” Pompeo said.

In an emotional speech, Hernando de Soto, a businessman who was the leader of the opposition for 10 years, said the statues should be removed.

“Let us not forget that the coronavirus is not the only challenge we face,” he said. “Let us do it! Let us never give up on our national mission.”

Hernando de Soto’s words were met with applause and cheers from the crowd.

In a surprise move, the mayor of Barcelona, Ada Colau, announced that the statue would be removed.

“Let us work together to make Barcelona a safer and more inclusive city,” she said.

The statue of Colón was a symbol of the city’s industrial heritage and was erected in 1888.

Spain honors COVID-19 victims, heroes

Spain has officially recorded 28,241 victims who died after testing positive for the COVID-19 disease, although experts say the real number could be higher.

The total number of deaths in Spain has increased by nearly 5,000 in the last month. The country has been hit by a second wave of infections, and the government is implementing stricter measures to control the spread of the virus.

Meanwhile, authorities in Spain’s Balearic Islands ordered the closure of beachfront areas popular with young people and nightclubs to prevent the spread of the virus. The islands have seen a surge in infections in recent weeks, and the government has been implementing stricter measures to control the spread of the virus.

Spain has also banned the practice of public gatherings in bars and restaurants, as well as the use of masks in public places. The government has also introduced new restrictions to control the spread of the virus, including the closure of non-essential businesses and the prohibition of large public events.

As a live performance of string quartets took place in front of the British Museum, a law prohibiting the organization of events in public areas near the beach of Palma de Mallorca was approved.

“Who will take care of us if the virus continues to spread?” asked the British Museum’s director, Quirin Quinn. “A law prohibiting the organization of events in public areas near the beach of Palma de Mallorca was approved.”

The newly formed committee is now charged with finding a solution to the problem, and is expected to report to the government as soon as possible.

The report said that many businesses and consumers remain cautious about the economic outlook, even as signs of recovery have appeared in recent months. The Federal Reserve’s latest Beige Book highlighted the uncertainty in the economy, with many firms and households still waiting for decisive action on future stimulus measures. Business confidence has improved slightly, but there are concerns that the economic recovery could be stalling.

The OPEC cartel has agreed to allow more oil to flow from its member countries, helping to stabilize oil prices. However, the OPEC+ group, which includes non-OPEC producers, still needs to make decisions on production levels in the coming months. The US government has been paying the majority of the salaries of workers who have not returned to work, but there have been issues with the administration over how to manage the financial impact of the pandemic.

The economy entered a recession in March due to the coronavirus lockdowns, and many businesses and consumers have been hit hard. The US government has provided significant support, including Paycheck Protection Program loans, which have helped to keep many businesses afloat. However, there are concerns that the economic recovery could be stalling as the US government prepares to expire its first extended round of emergency unemployment benefits.

The report also noted that the economy has seen some improvement, with some employment data showing signs of recovery. However, the US is not faring as well as some other countries, as the virus continues to spread globally. The US government is expected to announce new stimulus measures in the coming weeks to help support the economy.
Frankfurt, Germany. July 16, AP The coronavirus has changed the world but Europe’s push into electric cars that are battery-powered and hybrid cars has held up better than expected. Sales of electric cars and those fuelled by the sun are rising at a faster rate than overall car sales, even in countries where the government is moving ahead with a major transition to a digital economy in the next few months. In April, Norway invested $7.5 billion in wind and solar power. Electric cars now account for almost 10% of the country’s private transport. The Scandinavian countries have set the pace, making them a model for others, the government said.

The demand is growing fast, proving how a manufacturing giant such as Volkswagen Group can move with the times. “I have been very surprised,” said Sascha Schendel, 52. “We drive the Kona electric car and we love it.”

The more than half a billion dollars in government incentives have drawn buyers to electric cars instead of gasoline-powered ones. In Europe, consumers receive benefits of more than 6,000 euros for switching to an electric vehicle. In the United States, consumers receive a tax credit of up to $7,500 for an electric car. In China, the government has set a goal of having electric cars account for 25% of new vehicle sales by 2025. In Europe, the target is 35% in 2030. The EU has set a goal of reducing carbon dioxide emissions by 90% by 2050, and some governments have imposed higher taxes on gasoline and diesel cars.

The pandemic has caused a surge in interest in electric vehicles as people look to reduce their exposure to the virus. Sales of electric cars in Europe have more than doubled since the start of the pandemic, and the trend is expected to continue in the coming years. Demand for electric cars is expected to rise by more than 60% in 2021, according to the International Energy Agency.

The transition to electric cars is being driven by governments around the world, with more than 30 countries having set targets for reducing their carbon footprint. Holland Taylor's Ann Richards: 'A woman for all seasons'

By Lynn Eller

Holland Taylor served as a Testament to the portrayed character of Ann Richards, the late Texas governor. Ann Richards was known for her wit, charisma, and fight for women's rights. Taylor captured Ann's essence in various roles, but the portrayal for which she is most renowned is in the CBS television series "Hart of Dixie." In that role, she portrayed Dixie Carter, a woman after digging deeper into Ann’s life and character. The series was based on the groundbreaking experiences of Ann Richards, who died in 2006, and it aimed to highlight the story of a woman that has been a driving force in the political sphere. The show aired for five seasons and featured Ann's influence on the local and national stage.

At the 1988 Democratic National Convention, Richards gave the keynote address. She was joined by her husband, Ben Bradlee, who died in 2006, and the two were known for their strong partnership. Their televised address was hailed as a defining moment in American politics. Ann Richards later went on to serve as the Governor of Texas, becoming the first woman to hold that office. She was known for her progressive policies and her ability to connect with voters from both sides of the political aisle.

Taylor's portrayal of Ann Richards was praised by critics and audiences alike. She won several awards for her performance, including a Primetime Emmy Award for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series and a Golden Globe Award nomination. Taylor's dedication to the role and her ability to bring Ann Richards to life on screen made her portrayal a lasting legacy in the world of television.
SGT Michael Jackson: An American Hero

I vividly remember the moment I first heard the voice of Michael Jackson: the opening line of his timeless hit "Don't Stop 'Til You Get Enough." The powerful, hypnotic rhythm and the contagious melody swept me away, and I knew I had to find out more about this remarkable man.

Jackson's voice was his calling card — a velvety tenor that wove through songs of love, loss, and triumph, capturing the essence of the human experience. But it was his music videos that truly set him apart. With their elaborate sets, iconic costumes, and groundbreaking choreography, they pushed the boundaries of what was possible on a music video screen.

The legacy of Michael Jackson is immeasurable. He was a pioneer in music, fashion, and dance, and his impact on popular culture is felt to this day. His music continues to resonate with fans of all ages, and his influence is evident in the work of countless artists who have followed in his footsteps.

As we celebrate the life of Michael Jackson, let us remember his contributions to music and culture, and the legacy he leaves behind.

In 'virus era', school plans stress parents

NASHVILLE, Tennessee, July 16, 2020 (AP) For generations, school has been an opportunity for American children to learn and make friends. For many parents with young children, it’s essential that their children be able to maintain a routine while school is in session. But for parents with young children who have been out of school since the start of the pandemic, they’re now at a loss for how to fill the void left by school closures. School has become a safety net for self-sufficiency in a way it never had before,” he said. “For many citizens, but extensive schooling wasn’t necessary to keep up with the times.

MALL, July 16, 2020 (AP) An epidemic pop hit bailed out the song from the center of a cultural maelstrom this week — with its public health guidance for schools and colleges — and, if that’s impossible, then there’s no reason for children to be in school. The outbreak of the coronavirus this year, and the lockdowns and the push to digital platforms, has put a strain on many families who are struggling to make ends meet. In some cases, the push to digital platforms has made it more difficult for parents to provide the necessary care for their children. In other cases, the push to digital platforms has made it easier for parents to provide the necessary care for their children. An important way to diversify and grow our storytelling is to expand our horizons. Sometimes, they reach out to me. My sources.” Derrick Johnson, the president and CEO of the NAACP, which stands for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said.

The fashion world has been hit hard by the pandemic, but some designers have found ways to keep their shows going. One such designer is Domenico Dolce of Dolce & Gabbana, who announced in February before the lockdowns and the push to digital platforms, said the trio’s latest collection was in response to the pandemic. The duo’s latest collection was inspired by cramped seating and endless waiting forvenues. This time, show attendees had their temperatures taken and were asked to wear masks before entering. The shows — with most fashion houses largely put the kibosh on live fashion shows — going digital to launch their summer collections for next year in both Milan and Paris last. 5 substitute interim rule in soccer extended by 1 year

ZURICH, July 16, (AP): An interim rule allowing five substitutes during games that was introduced in April to help protect players from the risks of COVID-19 has been extended by a year, the governing body of world soccer said Thursday.

The decision means that the five substitutes rule, which was tested during the European and Copa America tournaments in 2019, will be used at the 2020-21 season, and in the 2021-22 season, and possibly also at the 2022 World Cup in Qatar.

The rule allows for three substitutes to be made during the first half and two in the second half. It was introduced to help protect players from the risks of COVID-19, which can cause serious illness or even death.

The move comes after the World Health Organization declared the coronavirus pandemic a global emergency in March 2020.

DeGrom, Rizzo dealing with back issues

The 32-year-old DeGrom was his second-straight NL Cy Young Award, finishing with a 2.37 ERA and 253 strikeouts in 255 innings. If DeGrom is able to stay on the field for the rest of the season, he could be in consideration for NL MVP honors. The star pitcher was honored at the awards show in Chicago.

The New York Mets and theirroster are dealing with several injury issues, including one to star right fielder Giancarlo Stanton, who is out until at least late September.

The two-time NL MVP was not at home for the celebration, but he was on hand to accept his award. DeGrom has been a key part of the Mets' success in recent years, helping them reach the playoffs in 2015 and 2016.

Yankees slugger Judge, who has missed most of this season due to a wrist injury, was named to the roster for the NL All-Star Game, which will be played in Chicago on July 13th.

ChICAGO, July 16, (AP): Opening day is over, and there is some confusion for New York Mets ace Jacob deGrom and Chicago Cubs first baseman Anthony Rizzo because of this season's unique format.

At least five New York Mets players are now on the injured list due to various injuries. The team has already placed starting pitcher Jacob deGrom on the 10-day IL with a right biceps strain, and outfielder Michael Conforto is also on the IL with a left elbow injury.

The Mets sent deGrom to the DL after the right-hander pitched just one inning in a spring camp game against the Marlins. The move was made because of the DH, which is new in the NL this season.

The team is 2-2 in their last four games, with losses to both Pittsburgh and Miami, and they have scored a total of 12 runs in those games.

While the Mets have struggled offensively, deGrom has still been dominant on the mound, allowing just five earned runs in 26 innings pitched.

As the Mets' season continues, they will need to rely on their pitching and defense to keep them in contention in the National League East division.

SALINAS, Calif., July 16, (AP): After the San Francisco Giants placed their left-handed pitcher Boesman on the 10-day IL with a left forearm strain, the team announced it had promoted right-handed reliever Xander Berman to the active roster.

The Giants are now 1-2-0 after two games against the White Sox, with both losses coming in extra innings. They face the White Sox again on July 17.

TOKYO, July 16, (AP): After two days behind the scenes and huge clamor, track star and American record holder sprinter Kim Geer returned to her natural habitat on Wednesday and took the world by storm.

The 29-year-old former world record holder in the 100 meters, 200 meters and 400 meters, but struggled with injuries and setbacks in recent years, is back on track.

The track star has been training in a secret location in the United States, where she has been able to escape the distractions of the pandemic and focus on her craft.

The Japanese government has announced plans to allow limited fans in stadiums starting in late July, which could allow Geer to compete in front of a home crowd.

BUENA VISTA, Florida, July 16, (AP): A man who was missing for more than 450 days was finally located and rescued after he fell into a manhole in a underground storm drain.

The man, who was last seen on April 5, 2019, was found alive after being buried alive for over 400 days. The man had been trapped in the manhole for so long that he had lost all sense of time.

The rescue operation was led by a team of local firefighters and police officers, who dug through the manhole and freed the man from his confines.

The man was taken to the hospital for evaluation and was released after being treated for dehydration and malnutrition.

Prescott set for 'franchise' tag with long-term Dallas deal

DALLAS, July 16, (AP): Dak Prescott will play whatever becomes available this season.

Dallas Cowboys quarterback Dak Prescott said he will sign the franchise tag if need be, but he believes he's ready to go and wants to make sure he's healthy before taking that step.

Prescott will play out the final year of his contract, which is due to expire after the 2021 season.

The Cowboys have informed Prescott that they will place the franchise tag on him if he doesn't sign a new deal by the deadline.

Prescott signed the one-year contract that goes to 2-1/2 months older than Miami's Udonis Haslem of the Miami Heat, who is also eligible for the franchise tag.

That means the Cowboys will have until July 24 to have a deal in place with Prescott.

Prescott has been training on his own after suffering a left ankle sprain in the season opener against the Atlanta Falcons.

Coaches are relying on frequent testing, wear masks and keep their distance, and while Florida assistant Mike Sullivan has his doubts about the whole operation, he believes it could be a big boost.
