Stop hate crime and discrimination!

By Attorney Dr. Fawaz Alkhateeb, associate professor of Islamic Law

Financial services with a woman method:

The Ministry of Finance in the State of Kuwait launched in April 2020 its new service for women. It is fully prepared and personalized for legal services, especially in marriage and inheritance matters. The initiative also responded to all questions women have had about this matter that works for us forever.

We are all aware of the importance of respecting women's rights and considering them in all our dealings. Women can be often noticed in the biographies of the women who talk about a career, religion, religious identity, and so on. Sometimes it cannot be expected in the systems and the situations in which they are being professionally reviewed.

In the past months, I have noticed a rise in the cases of hate crimes. Hate speech was many times associated with the discriminatory actions towards the religious concept. We need to be aware of this and work towards making our society a better place.

The racism behavior is not only a matter of the community, such as to raise social awareness and address the issue of hate crimes and enhance the equality and unity of the people. We all need to work towards the healing of our society, based on the fact that we all have a right to live.

To enrich the content of the topic, the Attorney General's Office has launched a comprehensive guide to explore the reality of hate crimes and racism in the Middle East. The guide includes various case studies, interviews, and statistics to provide the trajectory needed to address these issues.

The social-media related crimes are becoming a common practice in our society. The hate crimes are often posted on social media platforms, which need to be regulated and monitored. The government and the organizations need to work together to prevent these crimes and to protect the rights of all individuals.

The racism behavior is not only a matter of the community, such as to raise social awareness and address the issue of hate crimes and enhance the equality and unity of the people. We all need to work towards the healing of our society, based on the fact that we all have a right to live.