Mosques with Ottoman architecture in Kuwait

A view of the outside and interior of the Badria Al Jee'an Mosque commonly referred to as the Golden Mosque in Salmiya.

Some mosques in areas in State of Kuwait are built to mirror Ottoman architecture, with exterior and interior designs, and drawings showing the beauty of such an architecture.

Among these mosques are Badria Al-Jee'an Mosque, commonly referred to as the Golden Mosque, a 3,600-square-meter newly-built mosque in Salmiya. The other is the cemetery mosque. (KUNA)
